About Us

Established in 1989, Ayesha Foods began as a manufacturer of samosas to restaurants. With the support of a local client base and strong family support, the business grew to supply authentic hand made products across the UK.

"I am passionate about home style Indian cooking and more importantly using a variety of flavours to meet everyone's choices with food. I was born and raised in India where I learned traditional home cooking from different regions of India and from the very best cooks. I love discovering new flavours and techniques from all over the world, and I travel both internationally and within the multicultural city of Bradford for inspiration. I recognize the importance of using fresh local ingredients in my cooking, and have incorporated this value into my entire business model."
